Defense Sec. Confers With Chief Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Neil H. McElroy said after a conference with President Eisenhower today that he still doesn't know how long he will stay on as secretary of defense.

McElroy conferred with Eisenhower for about an hour.

He told newsmen later that the death last Friday of his deputy, Donald Quarles, is a factor to be considered in making up his mind about leaving the Cabinet. Quarles had been one of the men most often mentioned as a possible successor to McElroy.

As he has done before, McElroy said the international situation is one of the principal factors.

The secretary said some time ago that he hoped to be able to resign by the end of the year to return to private business.

In response to questions McElroy said Eisenhower has made no decision in regard to a successor to Quarles.

Despite cold, wet weather, 80,000 crowded into Sydney showground and 70,000 into Sydney cricket ground for the final services of the Evangelist's month-long Sydney crusade.

"Dr. Graham first spoke for 10 minutes at the cricket ground, then hurried to the showground for his main address, which was broadcast to the cricket ground.

At the end of the meeting, 56,153 made "decisions for Christ."

MOTOR BOAT TRAGEDY

HAYTI, Mo. (AP)—Three passengers drowned Sunday when a speeding motorboat suddenly was swamped. Three others survived the accident on Wolf Bayou.

Tragedy Mars Mother's Day Gathering in Deerfield Twp.

Picture-taking at a Mother's Day family gathering on a farm on Sutton Hill in Deerfield township, about five miles from Tidioute, ended in tragedy Sunday afternoon about 5:15 o'clock. The mother of four small boys was fatally injured and her sister-in-law in the Warren General Hospital with serious injuries to the back and other fractures.

According to a report made to the coroner's office the sisters-in-law were peeing in the bucket of a highlift, some distance from the ground. For some unexplained reason the bucket tipped and the women were precipitated to the ground, both landing on HARRISBURG (AP)—Gov. Lawrence's record $89 million dollar highway budget and his proposed motor vehicle tax increase are scheduled for close scrutiny in the Legislature this week.

A meeting of the Senate Highways and Appropriations Committee is scheduled for Wednesday to examine the proposals.

There has been little legislative comment on the budget since it was introduced last week.

Sen. James Berger, GOP floor leader said the subject did not even come up at a meeting of Republican Senate leaders Sunday night. Republicans have indicated they may be willing to go along to a point with Lawrence's proposal to increase passenger car registration fees from $10 to $15 and the operator's license fee from $1 to $3.

But they expressed opposition to a cent-a-gallon increase in the gasoline tax to 6 cents.

Rep. W. Stuart Helm (R-Armstrong), House GOP Policy Committee chairman, termed the gas tax increase "completely wrong."

The motor fund budget and tax proposals drew criticism from outside the Legislature over the weekend.

Both the Pennsylvania Chamber of Commerce and the Pennsylvania Motor Federation (AAA) expressed "strong doubt" the state could obtain all of the $32 million dollars in federal allocations listed in Lawrence's budget.

The Chamber of Commerce said in a report that Lawrence overestimated by nearly 40 million dollars the amount which can be expected from the federal government in the next two years.

The motor federation said "motorists shouldn't support any motor vehicle tax increase until a long, hard and expert look has been taken at the motor license fund budget."

In Philadelphia, GOP mayoralty hopeful Harold Stassen called on Republican lawmakers to kill Lawrence's motor vehicle tax program. He said it "would raid the pocketbooks of over five million Pennsylvania motorists in order to bring in 59 million dollars in new taxes."

Berger said Senate Republicans Sunday night agreed to pass legislation to continue the 1 per cent real estate transfer tax and 1 per cent of the 6 per cent corporate net income tax.

But, Berger said, the measures will be amended to keep the taxes on a temporary basis as they are at present. The House last week approved the bills on a permanent basis.

Berger said the Senate leaders also agreed to.

No Change Reported in Condition of Dulles

WASHINGTON (AP)—No change was reported today in the condition of John Foster Dulles, weakened by pneumonia in his fight against cancer.

The former secretary of state's sister, Eleanor Dulles, returned to Washington Sunday night because she felt "I should be nearer home at this time." Mrs. Dulles had been in Berlin representing the State Department at the 10th anniversary of the lifting of the Berlin blockade.

The State Department said Saturday that Dulles had developed a mild case of pneumonia, but his temperature had returned to normal after treatment.

Mrs. Wanda Pillar, 36, wife of Joseph Pillar, of Tidioute RD 1, died of internal bleeding due to rupture of the heart, a Tidioute physician who reached the scene just as the victim passed away, told Coroner Ed Lowery. She had undergone a serious but successful heart operation in Philadelphia about six months ago, and a checkup Saturday had revealed she was making splendid progress toward complete recovery.

Mrs. Adam Bosko, 31 of Youngstown, whose maiden name was Elsie Pillar, is in the Warren General Hospital with pneumonia. (Turn to Page Twelve)

NELS ANDERSON

Funeral Services For Nels Anderson Tuesday at Three

Funeral services will be held at First Methodist church at 3:00 p. m. Tuesday for Nels Anderson of 407 Liberty street, one of the community's best known business figures, who died in Warren General Hospital at 1:40 a. m. Sunday.

Removal will be made to the church at 2:00 p. m. and friends may pay respects there until 3:00 p. m., when Dr. A. Culmer Schultz will conduct the final rites. Interment will follow in Oakland cemetery.

Mr. Anderson was born in Sweden on May 19, 1881, the son of August and Anna Lauger Anderson, and came to this country at the age of two years. Educated in the public schools of Warren county, he worked at various jobs as a youth.

At the age of 17, he started work with the Youngstown Manufacturing Company, remaining there for 17½ years.

For a time he was a fireman for the Pennsylvania Railroad, on the run between Erie and Kane, and in 1917 became associated with I. L. Anderson of Youngstown as a grocery store clerk.

When the former went into the baking business, Nels Anderson became shipping clerk, continuing in that capacity until May, 1922. At that time, with his brother, D. R. Anderson, and C. H. Kay, he formed a partnership and started the Warren Baking Company.

When other members of the firm later opened and operated baking plants in Bradford, Dunbar and Youngstown, he remained as manager of Warren Baking Company. Under his able direction, the business has grown into a thriving industry until, today, its products are known throughout this entire part of the state.

Mr. Anderson found time to engage in many interests outside his business concerns. He was a member of First Methodist church; had served Warren County Motor Club as a director for many years; was a member of Warren Lodge of Elks; of Warren Rotary Club and, through it, active in the work of Warren County Crippled Children's Committee. In the Masonic fraternity, he was a member of North Star Lodge 241, F. and A. M.; of Coudersport Consistory, and of Zeta Temple in Erie.

Besides his wife, Helen S. Anderson, he is survived by one son, Dean A. Anderson, Warren, and a daughter, Mrs. Doris Swanson, Palo Alto, Calif.; two grandchildren, Dean A. Anderson, Jr., and Milton Swanson; two brothers and three sisters, also several nieces and nephews.

Friends who wish to remember Mr. Anderson may do so with gifts to the Warren County Crippled Children's Committee.

LESS HOURS, MORE PAY IS USW DEMAND

NEW YORK (AP) — Industry-wide steel negotiations open today with the Steelworkers Union expected to demand shorter hours and more pay.

Four-man industry and union teams will attempt to agree on a new contract in time to prevent a strike by a half million steelworkers July 1.

The industry-wide talks replace the dozen company sessions held with the union last week.

David J. McDonald, president of the Steelworkers, said Sunday that unemployment is one of the most important issues. He said he wants employment security to be the first item on the agenda.

"Our view is that the way to achieve this desirable goal," he said, "is a balanced program of reducing hours, increasing purchasing power by improved wages and other benefits, and appropriate revisions in our pensions."

This was the first official indication that shorter hours would be sought. Previously the union had indicated only that it would ask for substantial wage increases.

A published report that the Steelworkers had demanded an immediate average work week of 38 hours at the present 40-hour wage level was denied by R. Conrad Cooper, chief negotiator for management. Cooper, a vice president of U.S. Steel, said he knew nothing of such a demand.

The preliminary talks last week were described as constructive by both sides, who pledged to work hard to reach agreement in the seven weeks before the old contract expires on June 30.

Both sides were clearly poles apart. Last week industry again proposed an extension of present contracts for one year to prevent another wage-price spiral. The union again rejected it.

Cooper said increased steel labor costs would be inflationary, whether requiring price increases or not.

Steel profits are running at a record level and this, coupled with productivity, McDonald said, (Turn to Page Twelve)

German Prisoner Of War Sought 14 Years Recaptured

By ROBERT HANKIN
Cincinnati Enquirer Reporter
CINCINNATI (AP)—"I never was a Nazi and never wanted to go back to Germany under any conditions."

That was the quiet statement in flawless English by a balding one-time German army officer, Lt. Kurt Rossmel, sought by the FBI for 14 years.

Rossmel, 52 and an expert linguist, said he faded into anonymity in Chicago and stayed there after escaping in August 1945, from prisoner-of-war Camp Butler, N. C. He finally surrendered to the FBI here Sunday. The Immigration and Naturalization Service holds a hearing today on his status.

The FBI turned over Rossmel to the Immigration and Naturalization Service, but he was released pending today's hearing. A spokesman for the service said Rossmel cannot be charged with illegal entry into the United States because he was properly admitted as a prisoner of war.

The spokesman also said the statute of limitations may have run out on prosecution for Rossmel's escape from the POW camp in 1945.

At a German-American club here Kurt Rossmel told of his wanderings.

Hopes Still Dim For Early End of Hospital Strike

NEW YORK (AP) — Hopes dimmed for an early settlement of a three-day-old strike of housekeeping workers at six private hospitals here.

Mayor Robert F. Wagner recessed a long, angry session with union and management representatives early in the morning at City Hall.

"The only thing I can say at this time," remarked the weary mayor, "is that we explored a lot of areas."

The talks had gone on more than 12 hours. Mr. Wagner said they would resume tomorrow. Meanwhile, hospital patients—there are some 2,700 altogether—continued cheerfully to accept the little inconveniences of the strike.

Park Avenue society matrons and other volunteers moved into the hospitals to help care for patients while orderly picket lines paraded outside. Doctors' wives and businessmen also pitched in.

The Retail Drug Employees Union called the strike Friday.

Worshippers Are Driven From Church by Blaze

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Some 2,000 worshippers were driven out of St. Bernard's Roman Catholic Church by fire Sunday. No one was hurt and all sacred vessels were saved.

Asst. Fire Chief Sam Hasley of Mount Lebanon, where the church is located, said the blaze was caused by an arsonist. He said three separate fires were set in the lower level of the church.

The fire broke out after 11 a. m. services had started. The Rev. John Dompka was celebrating Mass in the upper level of the church and the Rev. Joseph Meindl was celebrating Mass in the lower level.

COMPLETE AGREEMENT IS REPORTED REACHED ON THE ISSUE OF EAST GERMANY

GENEVA (AP)—The Big Four foreign ministers opened their conference on cold war problems tonight, 2½ hours late, after running around for a time on the question of how the East German government should participate.

The first session of the conference was scheduled for the Palace of Nations. Instead, Secretary of State Christian A. Herter and his Soviet, British and French counterparts got together informally at a British villa.

From this meeting Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko emerged with the announcement the formal session was set for 6 p. m.

"There has been a complete agreement on all procedural and administrative matters," he said, adding that this included the question of German participation.

Gromyko left the informal parley first. He was followed by Herter, French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville and British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd.

Lloyd, designated to preside at tonight's opening session, led the efforts to resolve the dispute involving the whole issue of the status of the Red East German regime.

The formula decided upon for the formal opening session was as follows:

The East and West Germans sit at separate tables. The Big Four foreign ministers sit at a round table but all on one side, leaving one side vacant.

The West German table is closer to the seat occupied by Herter, the East Germans closer to Gromyko. The two German delegations are separated by a third small table for the conference secretariat.

Asst. U. S. Secretary of State Andrew H. Berding held up a diagram of the seating arrangement for reporters to see.

Asked of the West had made any concession to the Russians, Berding said: "We haven't given way on anything."

Western spokesman said the separate tables idea met the original Western objections to having the meeting at a round table. The West had feared that if only a round table was used the Russians would try to squeeze in first the East Germans and later the Poles and Czechoslovaks as full participants.

Under the agreed upon formula the Germans are advisers and not full participants as demanded by the Russians.

Harvard Professor Is New President of ADA

WASHINGTON (AP)—Samuel H. Beer, 47, a Harvard professor and an avowed believer in political liberalism, is the new national chairman of Americans for Democratic Action.

Beer's election Sunday by the self-styled liberal organization brings to ADA's top leadership a close friend of Sen. John F. Kennedy (D-Mass.). Kennedy is considered a likely contender for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1960.

The ADA supported Stevenson in both his races for the presidency in 1952 and 1956. Before the Democratic convention in 1956, however, the ADA declined to state a preference by saying either Stevenson, Averell Harriman, or Sen. Estes Kefauver would be acceptable.

ended in international negotiations. Gromyko at 49 is the youngest but the veteran of the most conference tables. Lloyd is 54 and Couve de Murville 52.

Iron-visaged Gromyko was once called the boy wonder of the diplomatic world. Dark, heavy-set and square-shouldered, he is a veteran of Kremlin politics under Stalin, Malenkov and Khrushchev.

A man of impassive Slavic calm, Gromyko has big shoes to fill at this Geneva conference. Former Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov was considered by many Western statesmen to be the most skillful professional diplomat of this century.

Viewing Harrisburg

By LEONARD A. UNGER
HARRISBURG (AP)—The slipperiest lawmaking track usually is run by bills to legalize pari-mutuel betting on horse racing in Pennsylvania.

It would take a squad of race stewards to dig into the infighting that confronts this bill each session it is introduced.

Once again the legislation appears to have been bumped off the track.

Gov. Lawrence stopped the bill this time. Seemingly surprised that the legislation was revised to hold a referendum in the Nov. 4 general election, he told newsmen he would veto it if voters were to act on it in November.

Why won't he sign such a bill? "Because I will not have it interfere with the November election," Lawrence replied. "If they put it in at a primary, I'll sign it."

Less than two months ago, he said he would sign such a bill and gave no qualification.

What happened since? Close friends say he fears a November referendum would hurt the chances of Democratic candidates for State Supreme and Superior Courts.

The theory is that Protestant forces would do their utmost to marshal a heavy vote against race betting. Lawrence is known to feel that most of these people are Republicans.

While in the booth to vote against betting, they also would probably vote for Republican candidates.

Over the years, the horse race bill has made some strange companions.

Church forces have been allied—but not openly—with persons who have interests in out-of-state race tracks. They never worked together as a unit but each was after the same thing.

The political overtones in Lawrence's positions are so obvious that many House Republicans plan to object to revising the bill to hold the referendum in the primary election of 1960.

There are many votes short of unanimity on the Democratic side in favor of this legislation.

High School Students Enjoy Unusual Program

Warren High Students this morning witnessed an educational assembly conducted by Paul C. Saunders, professor of chemistry at Alfred University. His topic was the unusual physical and chemical properties of liquid oxygen.

Professor Saunders demonstrated the extreme coldness (-300 F.) of liquid oxygen by a series of experiments using such common articles as hot dogs, raw eggs, rubber balls, and a live goldfish. The goldfish, after having been frozen in liquid oxygen, was immersed in ordinary tap water, where it quickly thawed out and swam around normally.

In another experiment, a soft rubber ball was dropped into the liquid oxygen. After 30 seconds, Professor Saunders threw it on the floor where it shattered like a piece of glass.

The assembly, sponsored by Student Council, was presented to create a greater interest in the study of sciences in Warren High School.

I was not too happy about the situation since there are only 14,000 miles on the car and it has never been pulled any harder than what a sick one-day old calf can exert at feeding time. But nevertheless it broke. To make a long story short, we borrowed my father's car and returned to Warren quite late.

Now the rest of the story will concern itself with the eight tomato plants. Since the tomato is probably the most popular of all home garden vegetables, I thought a few tips on the plants and how to set them out might be worth while.

The first precaution is to use only well grown, disease-free plants. A good transplant is one 6 to 8 weeks old, 6 to 9 inches tall, with a sturdy stem (about the diameter of a lead pencil), and a leaf spread about equal to its height. The color should be a medium dark green, and the texture of the stem and leaves neither soft nor woody, but rather strong and firm. The root system should be well developed.

If a plant is pulled from the plant bed of flat and a large portion of the root stem is destroyed, it is advisable to remove any small roots or blossoms that have developed on the plant. These fruits have a tendency to stop vegetative growth for a time. Removal of these fruits usually results in rapid renewal of vegetative growth and the development of a larger plant capable of producing more fruit.

In transplanting, set the plant in transplanting, set the plants about 4 to 5 inches in the soil, or 2 to 3 inches deeper than they were in the pot, flat, or cold frame. Do not let the plants wilt after removal from the plant bed or pots.

If plants must be set during hot sunny weather, it is best to plant in late afternoon or evening. Make certain that you press the soil firmly around the roots.

A starter solution may be made from a 5-10-5, 6-12-6, or similar fertilizer by dissolving one pound of the fertilizer in 5 gallons of water.

In setting plants, first place some soil about the roots and then apply about a cup of the starter solution to each plant and cover this with dry soil. The quickly available solution nutrients of the starter solution give the plants an early boost.

Tomatoes are fairly tolerant to soil acidity, but lime should be added if the PH is below 6.0. A good general rate to apply fertilizer is about 35 pounds of a 5-10-10 fertilizer to the 1000 sq. ft. Tomatoes are heavy feeders and so some fertilizer should be plowed down and the remainder placed beside the plants at planting time or within a few weeks after setting the plants.

There is nothing to the play of today's hand at six hearts. If a diamond is opened South will ruff the second diamond in dummy, draw trumps and discard his losing spades on dummy's long clubs.

If a spade is opened, South will go up with dummy's ace, draw trumps, discard his losing diamonds on dummy's clubs and concede a spade trick.

There is also nothing to the play at six spades or six clubs. East will cash one diamond and wait for his king of spades to set the contract.

The real problem in the hand is to get to six hearts rather than six of a black suit and Meyer Schleifer of Los Angeles, one of our really great players, solved it in typical fashion.

He simply jumped to six hearts at his third turn to bid. His reasoning was that his partner had opened one heart, rebid the suit and then shown a willingness to play spades. Obviously, South held a heart suit that Meyer's queen-small would solidify and since Meyer held a singleton diamond the hand should play best in his partner's suit.

Also Meyer never bothered about seven. South might have two aces but if so he would not also hold the king of hearts and enough black suit strength to justify a grand slam contract.

News of Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The ceaseless quest for gold has sent many a filmhand figure to an early grave. But here's a different kind of man.

He's Phil Berg, who gave up being agent for the top stars to dig for treasures of ancient worlds.

Berg started here as an agent in 1924. He married film beauty Leila Hyams and by 26 had built a huge Sunset Blvd. estate now owned by oilman Ed Pauley. With Bert Allenberg, Berg handled dozens of stars and directors earning millions of dollars, of which the partners took 10 per cent.

But after he returned from wartime Navy service, Berg found something was lacking. In 1948, he sold out his interest in the agency. He explains:

"I just decided there were more important things in life than worrying over whether Loretta Young should wear a bustle in a picture, or whether Frank Capra would make another picture, or if Clark Gable's mustache should be trimmed 'st of an inch."

What to do? He remembered his early years as a boy in New York. His family used to live near the Metropolitan Museum, and his nurse often took him there. He was fascinated with the displays of archaeological findings.

So he began organizing adventures into archaeology. Every January, he and his lovely Leila set out by tramp steamer to Mexico, Greece, Mesopotamia, Egypt, or wherever the digging seems promising. They take with them a fabulous land yacht, a specially designed bus with beds for six, three showers, galley, and lounge.

They meet at the digging site with a band of archaeologists from a university of museum. Berg contributes a major share of what the expedition costs. The finds go largely to the scholars and the countries of origin.

The Bergs have just returned from a trip with UCLA scholars to Mexico, where they unearthed hundreds of Indian pots from the 8th Century A.D. The Bergs live in a gorgeous hilltop home in Bel-Air, surrounded by many of their findings.

NELS ANDERSON

Few men have been more widely and affectionately known in the Warren county area in recent years than Nels Anderson, 407 Liberty street, general manager of the Anderson Baking Co., whose death occurred early Sunday morning at the Warren General Hospital.

Mr. Anderson had carved himself a special niche in the life of the community. His congenial personality, civic enthusiasm and self-sacrificing service in all endeavors for the benefit of the town will be sadly missed in the years to come.

One of nine children Mr. Anderson was a self-made man in every sense of the word, starting out at the age of twelve to earn a living. Until seventeen he worked at odd jobs as teamster, and farmer, later securing employment at a furniture factory in Youngsville where he remained for seventeen years, later taking a job as fireman on the Pennsylvania railroad between Warren and Kane. It was in 1917 that he associated himself with I. L. Anderson as clerk in a grocery store at Youngsville, and when his employer entered the baking business Mr. Anderson remained with him as shipping clerk until 1922 when he formed a partnership with his brother D. R. Anderson and C. H. Kay and opened the Warren Baking Company, an organization which developed and expanded most successfully, with plants in Bradford, Dunkirk, Youngsville, and Warren. Nels Anderson remained as owner and manager of the Baking Company, which has come to be known as one of the most outstanding in eastern part of the Country.

In the meantime Mr. Anderson participated in many phases of community affairs, in the Chamber of Commerce, Warren County Motor Club, and above all the First Methodist church where he was a faithful member. He was a member of and keenly interested in North Star Lodge F. & A. M., and affiliated bodies including Coudersport Consistory and Zem Zem Temple. He enjoyed golf as a hobby and was considered a sharp and enjoyable competitor.

We join with the community in extending sincere condolences to the bereaved family.

"EMERGENCY ENTRANCE"

There is a door that always opens in this community. When the windows of homes and stores are dark and the whole city seems to be sleeping, a light can be seen behind a door marked "Emergency Entrance" in your hospital. Sunday marked the beginning of National Hospital Week which is being observed by communities throughout the country.

In an age filled with tremendous medical advances, your hospital looms high as one of the most important buildings in the community. The smallest and simplest hospital today can offer services—more roads to recovery—that were unknown even in the great medical centers yesterday. The great medical centers today are developing the routine hospital services of tomorrow.

For every medical advance that has reduced the need for hospitalization for one group of patients, there are other advances bringing to the hospital new groups of patients with new hopes of recovery.

Your community hospital stands ready 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, around the year to meet the most unpredictable needs. It must be prepared for individual emergency and community disaster. One week is hardly enough time to salute an institution which never closes its doors.

WORLD TODAY

By JAMES MARLOW
 Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — The meeting of the Big Four foreign ministers in Geneva can hardly be described as cheerful.

No wonder. Before he left for Switzerland Secretary of State Christian A. Herter said he wasn't very optimistic.

British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd cautioned against too much optimism right after his arrival.

At a Western luncheon Sunday, reports said, Herter looked tired. French Foreign Minister Couve de Murville looked serious, and only Lloyd seemed happy.

One of the greatest deadpans in the business, Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko, said when he got there he expected serious work.

But his boss, Premier Nikita Khrushchev, has already said he looks on the meetings as a nuisance and a delay in getting to the summit with President Eisenhower.

This was the mood before anyone really said anything. That it got worse fast.

The West German foreign minister, Heinrich von Brentano, and his opposite number, Foreign Minister Lothar Bolz, of Communist East Germany, are also in Geneva.

The West was willing for them to be at the conference, but only for consultation, if needed, and not as participants.

The West doesn't want Bolz sitting in directly because that might be interpreted as meaning the West recognizes East Germany, which it doesn't.

Gromyko began to get in some licks before he even met the Westerners.

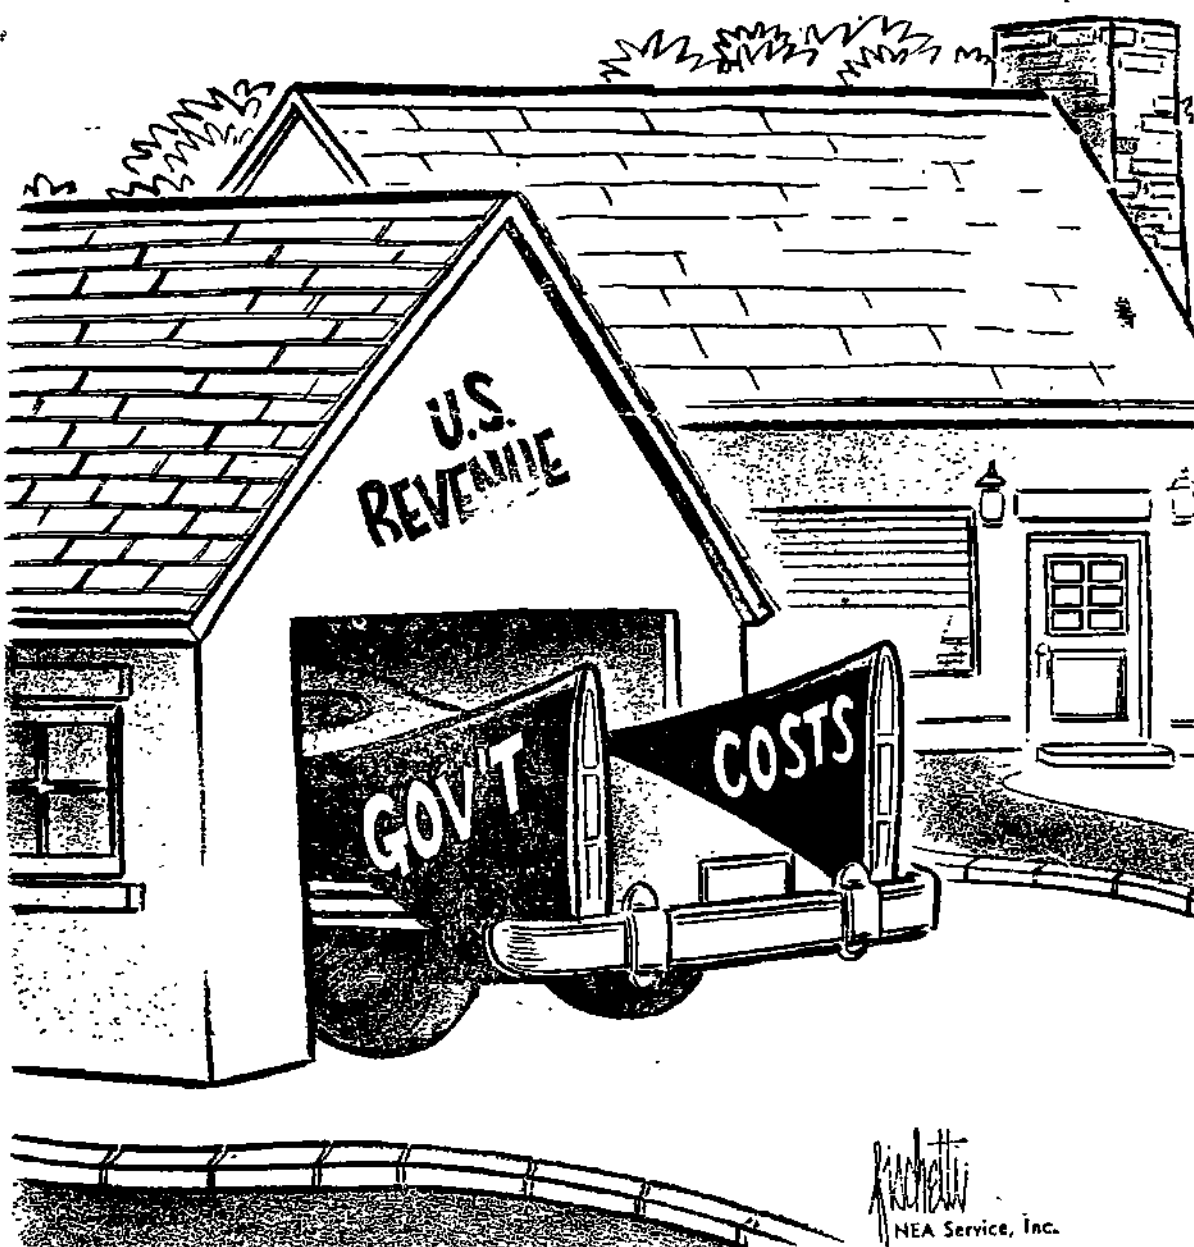

Let's meet at a round table, Gromyko told the Westerners through his aides. The Westerners said: Let's have a square table.

So hassle No. 1 got started. At a round table the Soviets, who want recognition for the East Germans, could argue that seating Bolz would just be a matter of shifting a couple of chairs around to make room for him.

At a square table — with the United States, Britain, France

Here and There

The Kinzua dam project has a good booster in Daniel W. Daly, Jr., president of the Bradford Area Chamber of Commerce. In a talk given at a meeting of the Bradford Lions Club last Thursday noon at the Hotel Emery, Daly revealed that the reservoir, presently being considered by members of the U. S. House of Representatives, will save Allegheny River industries and residents approximately $20,000,000 a year, once it is built. According to an article in the Era Mr. Daly explained the reason why his organization is in favor of the project. He added that nine million dollars will be saved by not having to repair flood damages and 11 million dollars will be saved by having enough water flow to wash away industrial waste, which has stagnated during the summer months. Mr. Daly said that the dam will serve a "three-fold" purpose—flood control, elimination of water contamination and the establishment of a recreational area. He added that by 1970 between two and three million persons will annually visit the dam site for recreation, according to a report received by him from the U. S. Forestry Service. Mr. Daly said that the main access to the dam will be from the Pennsylvania side, including Warren, Kane and Bradford. If the dam is built, he added, new roads will probably be built to that area. Mr. Daly said that he expects little opposition to the road building because of the many people who are in favor of the project. The dam will cost an estimated 130 million dollars which will be paid back in a ten-year period, he added. Mr. Daly and Raymond D. Sill, secretary-manager of the C. of C., answered questions following the talk.

Many gardeners grow and count the tall bearded iris as one of their favorite flowers. These beautiful specimens are prized treasures, but the shortness of the growing season is lamented by gardeners when only this one species of iris is grown. The current issue of Flower & Garden magazine tells how the iris season in home gardens may be lengthened into six to ten months of glorious color by growing different varieties. Iris reticulata offers fragrant snippets of purple even on snowy February mornings. Next to flower are the dwarf bearded types from March to May. Pumilia hybrids bloom faithfully in early spring, and later are the intermediates and the pretty newcomers known as Liliput. Oncos and regalias bloom early and later, blending into the height of the season when so many irises overlap in bloom. The stately queens of the garden, the tall bearded types, flower for a five or six week season. Iris dichotoma offers a different kind of entrancing spectacle starting late in July when exotic little blossoms burst open like bubbles into flat-petaled wonders in late afternoon. It is aptly named the vesper iris.

Proclaimed recently by Governor David Lawrence, the period May 10 to 16 is being observed as Pennsylvania Nurse Week. Built around the birthday of Florence Nightingale on May 14, this observance has become an annual event since its adoption by the state legislature in 1955. "The proclaiming of Pennsylvania Nurse Week, and its celebration throughout the state, constitutes a public recognition deeply and humbly appreciated by all nurses," says Mrs. Lilly E. Naylor, R. N., of Philadelphia, president of the Pennsylvania Nurses Association. "Only too frequently, in these days of nurse shortages, the nurse who has to stretch her services to take care of more and still more patients is deprived of the satisfaction that comes with giving the kind of complete nursing care that she has been taught to give, and which fulfills the humanitarian motives that attracted her to nursing in the first place. The appreciation of her patient is one of the richest regards that comes to a nurse, and the appreciation of the community, as evidenced through the celebration of Pennsylvania Nurse Week is welcome indeed." Special events, window displays, posters, broadcasts and other promotions will mark the week-long celebration in communities throughout the state.

Committee on Inflation Hasn't Got Rolling Yet

BY PETER EDSON
 NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—President Eisenhower's new cabinet Committee on Price Stability for Economic Growth is planning no action that will interfere with or influence the current steel wage negotiations one way or the other.

There is a lot of noise now that a wage increase in big steel would be highly inflationary. The other side of the argument is that the steel industry is now making such fantastic profits that it can pay a wage hike without even feeling it.

This boiling argument has been coming to a head for months. But the government has no intention to intervene in collective bargaining, as President Eisenhower reiterated at his last news conference.

If there should be an inflationary wage settlement, says Dr. Allen Wallis, vice chairman and executive director of the cabinet committee, conditions should be changed so that it doesn't happen again.

Asked if this wouldn't be locking the barn after the horse was stolen, Dr. Wallis replied that wasn't a fair conclusion.

AS A MATTER OF FACT, there is considerable lack of understanding about what this committee is doing.

President Eisenhower named it last January. Vice-President Richard M. Nixon was given his first policy-making job when he was made its chairman. Its other members are secretaries Anderson (Treasury), Benson (Agriculture), Strauss (Commerce), Mitchell (Labor) and Dr. Raymond J. Saulnier, chairman of the President's Council on Economic Advisers.

The general assumption has been that it was supposed to combat inflation, but that fighting language isn't found in its title. The executive order setting up the committee says only that it should strive to build up a better understanding of inflation. Just how this is to be done hasn't been decided. Nothing has been decided.

Dr. Wallis, a pleasant, soft-spoken redhead who stands six feet, two or three and who was formerly dean of University of Chicago School of Business, was sworn in as active head of the group March 18. He has been on the job since April 7.

HE DOESN'T HAVE a staff yet and doesn't want one except for maybe a director of research and a couple of others. He doesn't want any labor advisers or business advisers. Mostly, government economists will be used as needed for special studies.

The committee has no target dates on which to do anything, but it does want to get going.

To build up public understanding of inflation and its dangers, the possibility of public hearings has been considered. Another possibility is to issue statements. Each would take up one feature of the problem. It would be brief. It would be authoritative. But it would have to be noncontroversial, says Dr. Wallis.

THE PRINCIPAL SUBJECT to be investigated is productivity. The principal focus will be on economic growth. Price stability, wages, profits and things like that are not the principal objectives. They are considered just the means to the end—which is economic efficiency.

Dr. Wallis sees government itself as one of the biggest barriers to efficiency. Government regulations are a cause of inefficiency, he believes. Some proposals that have been made to curb prices, wages and profits would stultify the economy more than featherbedding. He says it is important to save the economy from government regulation for this reason.

Radio and TV

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
 AP Newsfeature Writer
 (Substituting for Mercer)
 NEW YORK (AP) — Custom-tailored television, with the entertainment designed to enhance subsidy and blend with the sponsor's products, is scheduled to flash upon the nation's screens this fall.

A major cosmetics company, which for years has spent money lavishly to buy shows of top popularity, has now gone into the business of making its own TV shows in much the same manner in which it now turns out its lipsticks, nail polishes and gentlemen's grooming aids.

This is really something new in TV, because until the company (Revlon) started organizing its entertainment-making division, the usual procedure was for manufacturers to shop the networks and the show-packaging firms for a show they liked. Then they'd buy it and slip in the commercials.

A short time back, however, President Charles Revlon set up a TV and Radio Division, hired top-TV writer Goodman Ace and his entire organization away from the Perry Como Show, and installed Mort Green—a key writer on the Como show—as division director. In October, the product will be first unveiled with a 90 minute variety show on CBS where for the rest of the season it will alternate weekly with Playhouse 90. In addition to expensively staffing its division, the cosmetics company has already invested some $1 million dollars in CBS TV time. When talent and production costs are added to this, the total tab for the season's operation could easily run twice or even three times this amount.

This marks the first time a sponsor has concerned himself with the raw materials of which entertainment is made. Major sums of money, in a radical departure from TV practice, is being invested in writers. Although TV does a lot of talking about creativity, in practice the emphasis has been on star names on following trends—imitating successful quiz shows, piling one western on top of another, massive production of "family comedies."

"Our idea is to buy the best writing talent there is," says director Mort Green, "and then to give it a free hand and plenty of time—TV time and time to produce a quality product—to work in."

How to Keep Well

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

(© 1958: By The Chicago Tribune)

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

OLDSTERS WHO LIVE IT UP

In a recent column on octogenarians, we invited anyone who is over 80 years old and active to write us. The response from men and women who have a keen mind and enjoy excellent health was unusually great. These sprightly oldsters have no desire to sit in the rocking chair and watch the world go by.

Many went on to other jobs after compulsory retirement. Others knit, raise irises, paint, read, or do their own household chores. An Illinois woman helped celebrate the 101st birthday of an active Maine telephone executive. She also called on a woman in that state who painted a house at age 85 and she saw another, aged 95, who was having a permanent while puffing away at a cigarette until the air was blue.

Aunt Fanny, at 97, pads and covers wooden hangers with bits of silk and satin. She does this to keep down the stiffness in her fingers due to arthritis. Her stitching is exquisite and she donates the hangers to bazaars and charitable organizations.

A nonagenarian wrote: "I don't do any work but wash the dishes for a small family and piece quilts that I sell. Some have gone to Alaska." An 85 year old mows his lawn, shovels snow, types, and drives his car to work daily. He reads a lot, particularly good literature.

An 80 year old just completed another book, "Jobs for the Physically Handicapped" and a 91 year old spends his time revising his book on engineering. An 87 year old chap does volunteer work for the Easter Seal society. Letters came also from active newspaper men, ministers, physicians, and ecologists.

Edward Laska, a mere 75 year old charter member of ASCAP, writes that three active directors of this organization are in their middle eighties. They are Max Dreyfus, Louis Bernstein, and Otto A. Harbach, who wrote "Tea for Two" and "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes." A woman wrote of getting married eight years ago to a hotel waiter who is 86, saying, "He is active in church affairs and attributes his longevity to faith in God."

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.

TOMORROW: Post-flu fatigue.

REACTION TO DISCIPLINE

Mrs. D. writes: My grandson is sent to his bedroom whenever he is punished. Every night he wakes up, goes to the living room, and sleeps on the floor. He gets one cold after another from doing this. Don't you think the bedroom should be a pleasant spot, not a punishment room?

REPLY
 Is grandma interfering? This strange reaction to punishment probably will stop of its own accord when the boy is able to appreciate the comforts of a bed versus the hard floor. After all, he is only punishing himself. Colds are contagious and it is doubtful whether sleeping on the floor could cause them.

ANGINA AND EXERCISE

C. T. writes: If a person gets attacks of chest pain from angina can he exercise?

REPLY
 Yes—but not to the point where it induces pain. Each person must learn how much can be tolerated and stop short of that point. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for our leaflet on angina pectoris.

A FREE COUNTRY

H. S. writes: Is it all right for a man to shave chest hair?

REPLY
 Yes, it's his business whether he shaves it or lets it grow.

RH INHERITANCE

Mrs. L. writes: Does a child inherit the Rh factor of the mother's or the father's blood?

REPLY
 The offspring inherit from either, depending upon the combination of genes.

Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst
 The reference to the old American custom of trying to make the best horse deal is this:

If the United States wants to hold markets or create them it has plenty of opportunities to bargain with the six nations—Belgium, France, Italy, West Germany, Holland and Luxembourg. They are embarked on a long term project of lowering and finally eliminating all trade barriers between themselves and in erecting a common tariff on imports from the outside.

Most of the nations outside the Iron Curtain will be represented at the upcoming meeting of Gatt—the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade. This will be a large scale horse trading session aimed at further lowering of tariffs and trade restrictions through concessions by the individual nations amongst themselves.

Previous meetings have brought cuts in duties on many products. And some of the cuts have aroused pained outcries from American industrialists. They held that American import duties were being cut on products in competition with their own, thus threatening their home market. The cuts were made as concessions for lower trade barriers on American exports to other countries.

This is the sort of deal that an official of the common market expects the United States to make with the six nations. The six are all hardheaded traders.

Their announced long term aim is to lower trade barriers not only between themselves but with the 11 other European nations with whom they are associated in the Organization for European Economic Cooperation and then to lower barriers with the nations in the dollar area and those in the sterling area not connected with OEEC.

But while working out the many problems of unifying their own countries economically, the six appear to outsiders to be chiefly, and understandably, interested in the greatest good for themselves.

The products, economies, trade and currency positions of the six vary widely. Officials of the common market are struggling with the problem of unification—moving slowly and through an almost endless series of conferences.

The 11 OEEC members not in the common market, but heavy traders with it, are worried lest they, like the Americans, see their trade hamstringed. At the moment negotiations between the six and the 11 seem stalemate—but here, too, a spirit of horse trading appears to be building up.

At the headquarters here of the common market, officials admit the problems, internal and external, but insist that in the long run the interests of American businessmen won't be hurt.

But Americans, watching their export markets decline in many parts of the world, aren't so sure. Combined, the six nations will form an industrial unit equal in world trade terms with the United States and able to produce many goods cheaper.

St. Michael's Holy Name Society Honors Sheffield Parish Mothers

The men of Holy Name Society of St. Michael's Greek Rite Catholic church in Sheffield treated mothers and their families to a delicious ham dinner on Mother's Day.

The church hall was filled with happy mothers, the lovely tables bespoke the love and work put into the arrangements by the Holy Name Men of the society served, with committee details managed by the chairman, Andrew Elinski, president, and Robert D. Mayes, treasurer.

Immediately following the solemn Divine Liturgy, which was celebrated in honor of all mothers of the parish and a special requiem for the deceased, all parishioners were invited into the church parlors for the dinner.

Father Elarion Benedik, OSBM, the pastor, blessed the food and spoke a few words in honor of Mary, the Queen of Mothers, and motherhood. John Gaydos, president of the church trustees, responded with words of gratitude to the energetic pastor, who has organized the confraternity of the Most Holy Name. He also thanked the Holy Name Society for the magnificent dinner, commending the exemplary spirit of the young men.

Mrs. Michael Danko, oldest mother, sat at the head table as honored mother; Mrs. John Stanko and Mrs. Peter Pollock each won a beautiful gift of flowers.

At the 8:00 a. m. Dialogue Liturgy, the children made their first Holy Communion, after which they were served breakfast in the church parlors by the Ladies' Guild.

Father Benedik is gratified to announce parishioners have subscribed 100% to the Diocesan Catholic paper, The Byzantine Catholic World.

Those altar boys who plan to attend the convention May 23 at Sts. Cyril and Methodius Seminary in Pittsburgh are reminded they should notify the pastor as soon as possible.

During May, month of the blessed Virgin Mary, devotions are being held each Wednesday at 7:00 p. m.; next Saturday, May 16, is the fifth All Souls Saturday, when the remembrance of all deceased will be solemnly read; Sunday, May 17 the Holy Name Society will have a regular meeting after the 8:00 a. m. Divine Liturgy.

Scholarship Benefit

To conclude the season's PTA plays, for the benefit of the Scholarship Fund, Mrs. John O'Hara has planned a gigantic Variety Show, featuring all local talent and to be staged at 2:00 p. m. this Saturday in Beatty Junior High School auditorium. The entertainment replaces the originally scheduled production of "The Wizard of Oz."

Murray Foreman, 13 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Foreman and an eighth grade student at Beatty, will serve as piano accompanist for many of the show's numbers and will be heard as soloist in the Rachmaninoff "Prelude in C Sharp Minor".

Resident of 112 Terrace street, young Murray is a native of Toronto, coming to Warren seven years ago this July, and can proudly say he has studied piano since the age of six. More recently, he has been a pupil of Miss Lillian Swanson at Warren Conservatory of Music and was heard in a concert recital there Saturday evening.

A truly accomplished pianist for 13 years, the young man possesses the flexibility of talent to adjust to top tunes of the day and provide accompaniment for the variety of musical numbers that will comprise this show. Although interested primarily in classical music, his accompaniments are outstanding, the mark of a really fine pianist.

Also on the bill will be a

MURRAY FOREMAN

Warren Boy Choir Ensemble, singing ditties from the Broadway musical "Oklahoma", and an All-Girl Choir doing "Thumbalina". Richard A. Sidon will accompany these units from the studio of Byron L. Swanson.

Dick Rapp, noted for his many talents, will appear as a Clown, a Space Man, and a Monkey.

Every conceivable type of entertainment is being offered in this big Variety Show, a "must" on every student's calendar. There will be some 100 young people performing, a terrific opportunity for area boys and girls to turn out for a good time and help the PTA Scholarship Fund. Tickets will be available at the door for those who do not hold season memberships.

Has Lead Role in Play

Miss Barbara Jeanne Andersen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald E. Andersen of 503 Conewango avenue, was honored with selection to play the lead feminine role in the Jamestown Community College spring production of "Night Must Fall", three-act play by Emlyn Williams.

Miss Andersen was cast as Mrs. Bramson in the psychological drama presented at 8:30 p. m. Saturday in Southwestern High School auditorium in Lakewood. This same role, it is recalled, was played by Jane Lytle Bevevino when Warren Players' Club staged the Williams play about 17 years ago. Jack MacDonald played the male lead in the Warren production.

MRS. JOSEPH ANTHONY LEPKOWSKI

Our Lady of Snows Roman Catholic church in Panama, N. Y., was the scene of a beautiful wedding at 10:00 a. m. May 9, when Mary Ann Brunecz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Brunecz of Sugar Grove RD 1, became the bride of Joseph Anthony Lepkowski, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Lepkowski, Route 2, French Creek, N. Y.

Completing the bridal party, Bernard Lepkowski was his brother's best man; ushers were the bride's cousin and brother, Mike Brunecz, Jr., and John Brunecz, Jr., with Phillip Spletzer, of Brooklyn, N. Y., ring bearer was the bridegroom's cousin, Ronald Kuchinski.

The bride's mother chose dusty rose lace and chiffon, with matching shoes and hat, and white accessories; the bridegroom's mother accented powder blue lace with navy accessories, and each had a white orchid corsage.

For the reception which followed in the American Legion Hall at Sugar Grove, music was by the Three Polka Dots of Erie; Cecilia Lepkowski and Kathryn Brunecz managed the guest book. Out of town guests came from Erie, Cleveland, Buffalo and Pittsburgh.

When the couple left for a week's wedding trip through eastern states, the bride wore a gunmetal-gray suit, red accessories and white orchids. Returning May 18, they will be at home to friends at 61 McKinley avenue, Jamestown, N. Y.

The bride, 1958 graduate of Youngsville High School, is a secretarial employee for Beneficial Finance Company, Jamestown. The bridegroom was graduated in 1957 from St. John's Kanty Prep High School in Wesleyville and attended Gannon College in Erie for two years, majoring in business management.

Hostesses honoring the bride-elect were Mrs. Stella Lepkowski, Mrs. Ann Brunecz, Mrs. Dorothy Smoljak, Ann, Theresa and Cecilia Lepkowski.

Similarly gowned in green, bridesmaids were the bridegroom's sisters, Ann and Theresa Lepkowski, with Cynthia Ann Sard of Panama. All carried yellow Sweetheart roses, with streamers matching their gowns. Flower girls were the bride's sisters, Theresa and Margaret Brunecz, wearing floor length green taffeta, designed with crushed cummerbunds and back bows. Net-leaf hair bandeaux were in the same color and their baskets were filled with yellow Sweetheart roses and feathered carnations.

Escorted by her father, the bride was gowned in chantilly lace and tulle and carried a cascade of white roses, Sweetheart roses and lilies of the valley, centered with a white orchid corsage.

The lace bodice of her gown featured a sabrina neckline and long tapering sleeves, an empire front panel of lace was embroidered with seed pearls and sequins, and alternating tiers of crystal-pleated tulle and lace fell into a graceful chapel train. A high crown of lace, encrusted with pearls and sequins, held her illusion veil.

Religion in the News

By TOM BENNETT

AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Crates of second-hand religious statuary began arriving soon in the fire department that never forget an old buddy.

The old buddy is the Rev. Martin de Pores, a Capuchin missionary, whom graying members of the New York City Fire Department remember as Jim Clarke of the East Side's old engine eight.

The story of the gift statuary began about a year ago when Father De Pores hitched a ride aboard an Army plane in the Ryukyus. Also aboard was the son of Joseph Maceda, an old fire department friend.

Later, Father De Pores wrote to the elder Maceda, now a fire lieutenant, to tell him of the meeting. Casually, he mentioned that if Maceda knew of any religious articles that weren't busy he sure could use them at his mission.

New York firemen are not accustomed to doing things halfway. The Anchor Club, made up of Roman Catholic fire fighters, adopted Father De Pores' small request as a major project.

Ads were placed in New York's Catholic newspapers. Calls started coming in. Off-duty firemen began scurrying around in their own cars, picking up donations. The gifts were stored in fire stations.

Last week, the results of the firemen's canvass was presented to Father De Pores at an Anchor Club communion breakfast. The tally: 1,500 religious articles ranging from small crucifixes to large outdoor statues.

The gift comes at an opportune time for Father De Pores for, when he returns to the Ryukyus next month, he is scheduled to supervise a new full-time mission on an island in the chain off the Japanese coast.

The island is Miyako, 70 square miles, 56,000 people, only 30 of them Catholics. The soft-spoken, bearded missionary is eager to get back there after his three-month visit in New York.

"There's so much to do," he says. "Right now all we have is a small house. The largest room in it is the chapel."

"We want to build a church, of course, possibly one with a combination hall and social center. Then, in time, we want to build a school. We figure we'll have one in about seven years."

Father De Pores believes he detects a rise in interest in Catholicism among the Japanese. This is because the new crown princess, Michiko, attended a Catholic school in Tokyo.

TODAY'S WOMEN

By DOROTHY ROE

AP Women's Editor

Here in the good old U.S.A. we are having our own modern-day renaissance of art, music and literature.

Museum curators, musicians, professors and art and music enthusiasts have been saying so. But the latest voice to be heard on the subject is that of all-American prima donna Phyllis Curtin, who has been singing American opera all over the country for the last five years.

Phyllis is slender, brunette, smart and photogenic. She also is the wife of photographer Eugene Clark. They have an 18-year-old son, Peter. Phyllis does more traveling than a traveling salesman, covering practically every state in the Union most of the year giving concerts and singing in operas. Says she:

"I love to sing American operas—it's so wonderful to have the audience know what you're saying. Recently when I sang an American opera at the Will Rogers Auditorium in Fort Worth, Texas, the waitresses and elevator boys at the hotel all went, and told me—it's great—we can understand it."

All over the country, says Phyllis, she sees evidence of a great new interest in music, drama and art—in little theaters, municipal operas, workshops in music and art, crafts clubs, painting and sculpture classes which are springing up in big and little towns alike.

Phyllis was born in Clarksburg, W. Va., and studied violin as a child. Her dad sang in the church choir, but otherwise there was no great musical talent in the family. She attended Wellesley College, where she majored in political science, starting voice lessons in her junior year. She found it was fun to sing—more fun than political science, so she decided to go at it in earnest. She started giving concerts at Town Hall in New York, and made her operatic debut at the City Center in New York in 1934, singing an opera "The Trial," written by an Austrian composer.

This spring she sang the new American opera "Wuthering Heights" by Carlisle Floyd, at the City Center. Says she:

"I'm having a wonderful time, enjoying every minute of it, even though sometimes I do feel like my home was a train or plane. There's one thing I'd like to say to girls with operatic ambitions—you can get the opportunities you want right here in your own country—singers don't have to train in Europe any more."

Matter of FACT

The greatest works of Ludwig van Beethoven, his Ninth Symphony and Mass in D, were written during his years of total deafness. Beethoven became deaf at the age of 31 and lived his last 26 years without hearing. He retained his inner sense of hearing, but he could no longer conduct his orchestra and his playing suffered occasionally from a too-gentle touch, when no sound would come from his piano.

Levinson Brothers Are Interviewed

Attention was centered on Warren with the arrival of Samuel Feinberg, author of the widely read "From Where I Sit" column appearing in Womens Wear Daily. Noting that a smaller organization had taken on a merchandising task discarded by one of the giant chains, Mr. Levinson was impressed by the spirit of confidence and enterprise shown by the heads of Levinson Brothers, Nahum, Bert, Jacob and David Luxenberg and plans a series of three or four articles in the national paper starting Friday of this week. Mr. Feinberg states that the purchase of the department store from Allied Stores marks the approach of many other smaller stores to heightened problems in a big business era. Whereas, in most cases, it is the large operation that takes over, the local set-up is the reverse.

A great deal of activity is in advance at Levinson Brothers as a gigantic sale continues this week to set the stage for what promises to be a fine, modern department store in the future.

Titusville Sweeps Warren Co. Invitational; Warren in Fourth

First annual Warren County Invitational Track and Field meet at Youngsville Saturday was won by Titusville Rockets with Warren placing fourth in a field of eight.

In order of their placings, the final scores are: Titusville 45½, Rocky Grove 42½, Youngsville 28½, Warren 25, North East 24½, Northern Area 23½ and Mercer 20½. Union City was pointless.

Dragons were spearheaded by Craig Johnson's record setting pace in low hurdles. Craig notched a :21.45 time in the event, smashing a :21.7 time made last Thursday against Corry.

Four Northern Area Knight boys set new school records in their play. Childs' 4:59.5 in the mile run was a better mark over the former mark at Eschenhower High of 4:59.9. Mile relay team set a new mark (3:43.7) over the former 4:56.4 time. Williams' second position in pole vault was a 10-11 leap, a son-inch addition to the old height. Ludwick was fifth in low hurdles, 22.4, running better than the old 23.4 time record on the books.

Johnson's win in the 180 hurdles was the lone Dragon placement in first division. Local tracksters had 2 seconds, 2 thirds, 2 fourths and two fifth place wins. Dragon tracksters did not enter a full squad, however.

Youngsville copped 880 relay. Halfast ran home first in 880 and Fehlman took biggest leap in broad jump.

Northern Area's mark was made by Childs in the mile. Knights also took mile relay.

Mathews and Aaron Have Braves Riding High Again

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Milwaukee Braves are riding high again with Hank Aaron and Eddie Mathews cutting a wide path through the National League.

Aaron's .485 average is the best in the majors and his 49 hits are high for both leagues. Mathews tops the big show with 11 home runs and 27 runs scored.

Their explosive punch is the main reason for Milwaukee's first place status. The Braves resumed the lead Sunday by taking a pair from Cincinnati.

The Braves scored seven runs in the eighth, after Don Newcombe left, in the 12-4 opener in which Mathews hit No. 11 and a pair of singles.

Aaron broke up the 2-1 second game with a he-snapping single in the ninth. It was his fifth hit of a busy afternoon.

Los Angeles climbed into second place for a 3-2 victory over San Francisco, made possible by Clem Labine's second game-saving relief job in two days. Labine turned in two scoreless innings, preserving Johnny Podres' fourth victory.

The Phillies and Pirates ran afoul of that Sunday curfew rule in Pittsburgh. After the Phils handed Bob Friend his sixth straight defeat 6-3 in the opener, the Pirates had opened up a 6-4 lead on Smoky Burgess' hitting when curfew sounded. They were in the last of the eighth, so the game must be completed July 21 before it goes into the standings.

Downtrodden St. Louis finally won a series, splitting two with Chicago for a 3-2 edge in a five-game series. Although Bob by Thomson hit two homers and drove in six runs, it took an 11th inning homer by Earl Averill to give the Cubs a 10-9 edge in the opener. Gino Cimoli, who had a big hitting day, teamed up with Curt Flood in some ninth inning heroics to give St. Louis the second, 8-7.

Rip Repulski and Charlie Neal homered for the Dodgers and Felipe Alou for the Giants before a San Francisco sellout of 22,641. Alou's homer following a towering double by Willie Mays in the eighth prompted Manager Walter Alston to bring in Labine.

In that suspended game at Pittsburgh, Burgess had driven in four runs with a three-run punch homer and a double when curfew intervened. The opener was delayed for 15 minutes at the start and was held up again for 35 minutes by rain.

VMI ADDED TO SLATE

Penn State today increased its 1959 football schedule to 10 games by adding Virginia Military Institute as a home opponent on Sept. 26. The two schools have never met on the gridiron.

The first National League baseball game was played April 22, 1876 in Philadelphia. Boston beat the Phils 6-5.

Squirt Johns Nabs Stateline Opener Before Record 3,454

Two records were shattered as Stateline Speedway staged its fourth season's late model stock racing program Saturday night.

Paid customers numbering 3,454 established a record, not only for opening night for a regular season 25-lap feature offering.

A field of 25 cars, one more than the previous 24, set a mark for the number of mounts participating.

Squirt Johns of Brockway, starting 16th, won the feature event, after being given a real battle by North East's Leon Lundstrom, who started 15th and who held the lead for 11 of the 25 laps.

Local placers included Frank Ruhlman Youngsville, second in first heat; Emory Mahan, Warren, second in third heat, and Emory also copped the consolation. Ruhlman was fifth in the feature.

Trophies for quarter-midgits will be presented during the coming Saturday night's program.

Kane's Ed Moran Cops Mile Run Saturday

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (AP)—Penn State's Ed Moran, Kane, posted a 4:02.1 mile Saturday and three Penn State Records topped as the Nittany Lions swept to a 101½ to 39½ track and field victory over Michigan State.

Chuck King led the Lions to a sweep of the 880-yard run when he set a Penn State record time of 1:49.8. The record was held previously by Moran at 1:50.2.

Doc Tells Boxer To Quit Game

JOE CAMPAGNA
 Takes Med Advice
 Personalities in area boxing circles were sorry to learn recently that Joe Campagna was advised to end his short boxing career.

Just getting footing at the bottom of a promising future, Campagna heeded doctors' advice and has "retired" from the fight game.

Doctor T. K. Larson, examining physician, told Times-Mirror sport editor that Campagna has a cardiac murmur. Larson explained that there was no enlargement or anything of that nature, however.

The examination and hospital tests followed Campagna's failure to pass a recent physical in Erie. Doctor said Joe had high blood pressure, which undoubtedly was caused by nervousness.

Trainer Joe Fazio advised a complete examination for Campagna to check any abnormality which may have caused the high pressure.

Dr. Larson explained that Campagna could possibly continue in the ring profession but someday a doctor would detect the condition and force him to retire. This could happen, Larson related, after Campagna had reached a fairly good position in the field. Larson said the local fighter could box "just for fun" but competitive action is out of the picture.

When promoter Don Eibaum in Erie heard of Campagna's retirement, he said Joe was a "very good young prospect. In time he could have been very good. I am very sorry to hear it."

There has been some hope expressed that Joe will be able to continue boxing. Another examination is scheduled in about three weeks.

Campagna had one amateur fight, winning by TKO. He fought several exhibitions locally before entering amateur competition in Erie.

Layne Inks Name on Pittsburgh Contract

Bobby Layne, described as "easily one of the most fantastic athletes in the entire sports world," today signed his second contract with Pittsburgh Steelers and his twelfth in NFL.

Slowly, the star quarterback, who broke into the league with Chicago Bears in 1948, is inching his way toward the all-time passing marks established by the "incomparable" Sammy Baugh.

The 32-year-old Texan was traded by Detroit Lions to an ailing Pittsburgh Steeler team after the 1958 season had started. In short time, he fired up the team and started Steelers on one of the biggest win streaks in their history.

To play consistently you must have a knowledge of how to control the ball in the wind.

As I stress in teaching at Tequesta, there are three basic principles which must be observed to "keep the ball under the wind."

- 1.—Play the ball from opposite the right heel.
- 2.—Place a large percentage of the weight on the left foot. My heel is still on the ground as I near the top of the backswing. Start with 75 per cent of the weight on the left foot, then effect a rapid return of the weight to it early in the downswing.
- 3.—Strike a crisp descending blow. This will result in a shortened follow through.

The result of what is referred to as a punch shot is a low trajectory with the ball seemingly boring into the wind. The chances are that a shot into a strong wind will fall as much as 15 yards short of the distance you would get with the same club, say a No. 3 iron, when not bucking a headwind. Thus always use plenty of club.

It is a common tendency with usually disastrous results to try

Pitching Proves Weakest Point For the Pirates

PITTSBURGH (AP)—What figured to be the Pittsburgh Pirates' strongest point — pitching — is turning out to be one of their weakest.

Rob Friend, a 22-game winner last season, went down to his sixth defeat without a victory Sunday as the Philadelphia Phillies won 6-3 in the opener of a double-header.

And George Witt, who helped the Pirates to a second-place finish last year with a 9-2 record, has been placed on the disabled list because of a sore pitching arm.

Unless Friend and Witt can regain their 1958 form it's doubtful if the Pirates will be able to live up to their pre-season rating as a pennant contender.

The Pirates and Phillies are tied for sixth place in the National League, 3½ games behind leading Milwaukee.

Each won two games in their latest series, with the Pirates leading 6-4 in the nightcap of Sunday's twin bill when the contest was halted after 7 2-3 innings because of the curfew law. The game will be completed July 21.

Catcher Smokey Burgess, one of the bright spots for the Pirates (his season, drove across four runs with a three-run pinch homer and a double in the second game.

Philadelphia captured the opener on a six-run rally in the sixth inning that sent Friend to the showers.

Friend was working on a two-hit shutout when the inning started. Richie Ashburn hit a double. Then came singles by Ed Bouchee and Wally Post and a triple by Harry Anderson that accounted for four tallies.

Ron Blackburn relieved Friend and was promptly tagged for a two-run homer by Willie Jones, his sixth of the season.

Robin Roberts was credited with the victory, his third against one setback, although he needed help in the seventh.

In the nightcap Philadelphia took a 4-1 lead in the fourth when Ashburn singled, Granny Hamner doubled, Bouchee hit a sacrifice fly. Post singled, Jones got a walk and George Anderson boomed a triple.

Then Burgess' homer tied it up and he sent the Pirates ahead in the seventh with a ringing double that scored Bob Skinner.

Halimi the squat, 27-year-old Parisian takes on Manila's Al Asuncion in a non-title ten rounder at Paris Sports Palace tonight. This is the champ's sixth and final tuneup for a title defense against Mexico's Jose Becerra at Los Angeles, July 8.

Durelle, the rugged fighting fisherman from Baie Ste. Anne, N.B., shakes off his ring rust at Caribou, Me., Tuesday night. Yvon faces Tucker Picot of Dorchester, Mass., in a ten rounder.

The Canadian hasn't fought since he was kayoed in the 11th round of a title thriller by old Archie Moore at Montreal last Dec. 10. Moore risks his crown again with Yvon at Montreal, July 15.

Welterweight contenders Ralph Dupas and Charley Scott clash in the Wednesday night television (ABC, 9 p.m., EST) 10 at the Chicago Stadium.

Scott, a hard-hitting, 22-year-old Philadelphiaan, soared into a No. 7 ranking by twice beating Cuba's Ike Logart. Dupas, New Orleans speed boy, snapped a two-fight losing streak last March 14 by whipping Jamaica's Gerald Gray. Dupas is ranked second by the NBA and fourth by Ring.

Pitrcce and Wynn Move Sox Close To Lead in American

By JACK RAND
 Associated Press Sports Writer

Billy Pierce and Early Wynn, a pair of route-going pitchers in an hour moved the Chicago White Sox within striking distance of the American League lead.

Although Pierce gave up 13 hits he went all the way for the White Sox to beat Cleveland 5-4 in 11 innings Sunday, winning on a single by Bubba Phillips, who had tied the score with an eighth-inning homer.

Wynn, a 39-year-old professional, completed the job on the league-leading Indians with a four hit, 5-0 shutout. The Sox backed him up with a 13-hit attack including Del Emms' first American League homer.

Detroit's Tigers continued to streak under new manager Jimmy Dykes, whipping Kansas City 7-6 for their seventh victory in eight starts under the new boss.

The New York Yankees proved they are not quite ready for burial by taking a pair from Washington 6-3 and 3-2, the second in 10 innings.

The Boston Red Sox also did their bit to tighten up the American League race, grabbing two from high-flying Baltimore 3-2 in 10 innings and 5-1. Don Buddin's first home run won the opener for Leo Kieley. Frank Bauman's three-run triple and six-hit pitching did the heavy work in the second.

As the Western teams head East for their first extended road trip, the distance from top to bottom in the league is only 6½ games.

The White Sox continued to torment the Indians whom they have beaten six times in eight starts. As a result, Chicago is only 1½ games out of first place.

Pinchhitter Billy Goodman drove in the tying run in the White Sox 11th after Cleveland had scored once. Phillips then singled home the winner to give Pierce the edge over Dick Brodowski.

Wynn had only one trouble-some inning, the third, when Minnie Miñoso singled and Rocky Colavito doubled. He tightened up and didn't allow another hit. Later Mike Garcia never had another chance.

Dykes' Tigers won a battle of home runs from Kansas City. Charlie Maxwell, Lou Berberet and Rocky Bridges did the bombing for the Tigers although Roger Maris hit two for the A's.

Ryne Duren had to put down a ninth inning uprising at Yankee Stadium to save Whitey Ford in the first game. The Senators had scored twice and had two on with nobody out when Duren took over. He blew down the next three.

Little League Baseball Played in Any Language

By HARRY GRAYSON
 NEA Sports Editor

NEW YORK—(NEA)—Fresh from a tour of Japan, Mickey McConnell tells another story of how baseball is played in any language.

"A survey of dependents of Air Force personnel at Ashiya on the island of Kyushu indicated that there would not be enough American boys to fill Little League rosters this spring," reports McConnell, director of training for the international movement for ballplayers from eight to 12.

"Mr. Allen Graham, the player agent, contacted the town officials of neighboring Ashiyamachi and enlisted their aid in signing 70 Japanese schoolboys.

"They elected co-officers from president through managers, coaches and umpires to groundkeepers. They decided to draft players so there would be an equal number of American and Japanese boys on each team."

McCONNELL, ONETIME Brooklyn scout, conducted a shoelace clinic for the players in the Ashiyamachi Elementary School.

He watched a practice session of the league, saw little differences in the aptitudes and abilities of the players, and found widespread enthusiasm for the project among the young athletes, parents, officials and nonparticipants.

A survey of the Nebraska State League, the majors' recruit circuit, shows that 46 players in the loop last season began their careers in Little League.

AMONG THESE LITTLE LEAGUE graduates is Ed Gary of Jackson, Miss., who was selected as the most valuable player.

Several other players noted that they started play in leagues which patterned themselves after Little League and later affiliated with the Little League organization.

When Richard Oeler completes his eligibility in Little League baseball, his father, John Oeler, will complete a dozen years as a Little League manager with at least one son playing on every team he has managed.

THE LOYALSOCK LITTLE LEAGUE was organized in 1948 in a township adjoining Williamsport, Pa., and John Oeler was selected as manager.

Two of the members of his team were sons, John and Don. His boys, Bob and Tom, followed in the footsteps of their older brothers. Now Richard, 12, is ready to replace his brothers when the older Oeler begins his 12th year as manager this spring.

Whoever said baseball is a man's game could get an argument from the Hawks in the minor league of the Lexington, Ky., Little League. The reason: The Hawks are managed by a high school last named Nancy Marshall.

Lightning Cited as Forest Fire Hits Tiona Area Woods

Lightning touched off a 20-acre forest fire on South Penn oil lease property on north branch of Six Mile near Tiona Friday afternoon, hours after it struck a gas line.

The fire was spotted by South Penn crews Friday afternoon. The lightning is believed to have struck the line sometime Thursday. A gasket struck by the bolt smoldered in a wet area until Friday when the area dried off, igniting the blaze.

Andy Martink, with Dept. of Forest and Waters in Warren, today said damage incurred by trees on the acre can't accurately be determined until about a year from now when signs of the fire begin to show. Andy said there are considerable logging trees and younger trees growing in the burned area.

Assisting Dept. of Forest and Waters in the fight which lasted late Friday evening were U. S. Government, South Penn workers, volunteers of Clarendon Fire Department, and a crew of volunteers from Sheffield High School.

Workers returned to the area Saturday, cutting and wetting down smoldering logs and stumps.

Leaking Gas Explodes Near Mineral Well

A gas pocket, formed from line leakage, caused a flash-back explosion-type fire back of Mineral Well Friday evening at 8:00.

A near-by fire is believed to have ignited the gas-filled air, sending the flames back to the broken line. Pressure in the line was 300 pounds.

When Clarendon fire department arrived with all available equipment, flames were leaping about 30 feet into the air, fed from the leaking gas. Part of the fire department crew was preparing to leave the forest fire scene at Tiona when the Mineral Well alarm was sounded.

A brush and gas fire, touched off by the explosion, was quickly brought under control. Firemen stood by until pressure was out to avoid an additional flash back. Flames from the line were extinguished with high pressure fog.

and the U.S.S.R. each occupying one side—the West could argue all the places were taken up and there was no room for Bolz.

This is symbolic reasoning on both sides but the Soviet and Western sides had to agree on some kind of table — before the ministers could even pull up chairs.

This was bad enough for a start. Then Gromyko let it be known he wanted East German Bolz sitting in as a full participant right from the start.

The first reaction among the Westerners in Geneva: unless the Soviets back down, here goes the meeting out the window.

But since things sometimes get better, and troubles sometimes fade away, maybe this Soviet demand will, too.

Maybe the best that can be expected is that the foreign ministers will somehow stumble through a lot of words, on some days, without agreeing on much or anything, but still not so unpleasantly as to make a later summit meeting impossible.

German representative desires to speak, the conference chairman will ask if any of the Big Four foreign ministers has any objections. If there are none, the floor will be given to the Germans.

The Western powers, regarding East Germany as a Soviet satellite, opposed the Soviet demand that the regime have the right of full participation in the Big Four sessions. The West offered, however, to work out some compromise arrangement to give delegations from both East Germany and West Germany the right to speak under certain conditions.

A British delegation spokesman said the informal meeting was arranged during a brief discussion between British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

The two had met in a futile effort to settle the dispute.

The spokesman said Lloyd and Gromyko decided that as things stand now, there was no chance of the formal conference beginning on schedule and they agreed to postpone.

The spokesman insisted that despite the postponement of the formal opening session, the conference actually has started.

"We are in the middle of one of the fundamental issues which we expected the Geneva conference would have to face," said one high official.

Diplomatic quarters also reported a complete tie-up in the four power liaison group which had been trying to agree on the size and shape of the table to be used at the conference.

The Soviet Union wants a round table on the theory it will make it easier to expand the conference. The Soviets would like to have Poland and Czechoslovakia, as well as East Germany, at the meetings. The West favors a square table, limiting the conference to four powers, one at each side.

The Big Four foreign ministers were being entertained at a luncheon by the Swiss Federal Council.

Western officials said the Soviet maneuver to seat East Germany was aimed at compelling a degree of Western recognition of the German Red regime.

The move could force a quick breakdown of the conference, they declared, but most of them expected Gromyko to back down. The West is willing to invite the East and West Germans in as observers but not as full-fledged participants.

British informants said Gromyko and Lloyd had talked about something along this line: Gromyko would drop his demand to have the Germans seated at the conference table. The Western ministers in turn would agree that the German representatives could speak out in the conference instead of making their views known only through one of the Big Four ministers.

A U.S. spokesman told newsmen the United States would not want to see the Geneva conference break up on a procedural issue.

Job Situation Report May Show Improvement

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new government report on the nation's job situation today is expected to show a booming business is providing more and more jobs to ease unemployment.

Officials predicted in advance that the report would show about a million more workers employed and a decline in unemployment of from 500,000 to 600,000. Both would be more than seasonal.

Secretary of Commerce Lewis L. Strauss forecast over the weekend that the new data will show "a sharp further improvement" in the job picture.

Auditor General Raises Issue Over Liquor Bills

HARRISBURG (AP)—Aud. Gen. Charles J. Smith concedes liquor may have medicinal value but he wonders whether cheaper brands aren't just as good as more expensive spirits.

Liquor is furnished by the state as medicine to certain patients on relief under Department of Welfare regulations.

Smith said he had no quarrel with the regulations, but noted some department physicians prescribe brands costing as much as $6.44 a fifth.

FLOOD COMMITTEE NEWS LETTER

Our Valley's Future

The potential for the industrial development of the upper Allegheny Valley has never been greater than it is today. Industries—both large and small—are hunting for abundant supplies of stream-flow waters. We have them. And what is more, the source of our water supply, the head-water streams of the Allegheny watershed, comes from one of the heaviest forested areas in the eastern United States which gives us not only an abundant supply of this valuable natural resource but our waters are as close to being uncontaminated as one is likely to find anywhere.

This is a considerable asset and will undoubtedly be instrumental in attracting new industries to our communities in the near future. For when you learn that steel mills in Baltimore are being forced to use both sea water and reclaimed water from sewage works to supplement their normal water supply; that many oil refineries, too, find it necessary to use sewage waters; and that the Kaiser mills have reduced their water intake at heavy costs because not enough good water was available; it points up the seriousness of the industrial water problem.

And as our national production and urban population grows, this water-shortage condition is certain to become worse. Contamination of present water supplies will increase and the demand for more and more water for industrial purposes will be a natural development. Karl O. Kohler, Jr., in an article, "Trends in the Utilization of Water", says, "The water-supply problems in America will be serious for years to come". And since 1948 the Federal Government has been encouraging industries to plan for their future by cooperating on river-basin plans so that the ever increasing demand for industrial water can be met without undue hardship.

Certainly, such admonitions present a rosy picture of our valley's future. Yet it's our abundance of water at one time of the year, winter and spring, and our almost complete lack of it at another time of the year, summer and fall, that has been a stumbling block in getting new industries to locate in the Allegheny Valley in the past. And these conditions will continue to be a stumbling block throughout all of our future unless something is done to level-off the Allegheny's erratic flowage. That "something" could, and should be, the Kinzua Dam. For it is only when we have taken a realistic view of this tremendous opportunity which exists, and will grow proportionately in the coming years, that we can appreciate what an almost constant level of the river would mean to us economically.

Boyle's Column

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

The average U.S. wife today can look forward to being a widow for 10 years. Her actual life span is only six to seven years longer than that of her husband, but she usually marries a man three years older than herself.

James Hoban, the man who designed the White House, was paid only $500 for the job—one of the best government investments in history.

Wisdom in capsule: "Recessions begin and end in the minds of men."—Charles G. Mortimer, president of General Foods.

Do you have trouble sticking to a diet? Some snakes can live from one to two years without food. They absorb the fat from their own bodies.

The price of cartoon comedy zoomed. Thirty years ago Walt Disney could produce a Mickey Mouse one-reeler for $7,000. Now an animated one reel film costs $50,000 or more.

How vital is blood to you? It amounts only to about one sixteenth to one twentieth of your body weight. But ordinarily the loss of one third of your blood, unless replaced, will cause death.

The odds against lightning striking your television antenna during a thunderstorm range from 10 million to 1 to 220 million to 1, depending on how many sets there are in your community. So quit worrying!

Remember the famous poem about the purple cow? It ended, "I'd rather see than be one." Actually, the only animal purple in color is the blesbok, a small South African antelope.

A good wife and a happy home life are a man's best forms of mental health insurance. Nearly 90 per cent of the men admitted to mental hospitals are unmarried.

Our quotable notables: "The woman's work that's never done," says Dorothy Shay, "is most likely the work she asked her husband to do."

America's sweet tooth seems to be getting sweeter. More than 2,000 types of candy are turned out yearly in this country. It's a billion dollar business. Candy made of honey, spices, and chopped nuts and fruits was sold in Egypt as early as 1500 B.C.

Women now outnumber men in the United States at the rate of 100 to 98.4. But they can still out-talk them two to one!

Can you name the largest organ of the human body? It's the skin. And, except for the brain, it is perhaps the most complicated.

Consoling fact: despite high prices, the average American can buy nearly three times as much food for an hour's pay as his grandfather could back in 1916.

Infant mortality is still a big problem down on the farm. Twenty-three per cent of all pigs die before they are weaned.

Marital bargain: The owner of the famed Meramec Caverns at Stanton, Mo., is offering free underground weddings during June. But what couple wants to start with a marriage on the rocks?

No matter how bad the weather is where you live, the man in the moon has it worse. Lunar temperatures vary from 215 degrees above zero in the sunlight down to 240 degrees below zero in the dark.

It was Robert Louis Stevenson who observed: "So long as we love we serve; so long as we are loved by others, I would almost say that we are indispensable; and no man is useless while he has a friend."

The Canadian Dionne quintuplets, born in 1934, and the Diligent set, born in Argentina in 1943, are the only two cases of quintuplets known to have survived infancy.
